REPORTS ADOPTED.

BOARD OF MISSIONS.

Report No. 1.

We rejoice that the missionary debt has been paid in full in response to the call of the General Board of Missions and that we now have an open field to make an aggressive movement toward the Christianization of the world. While the world war is making a heavy tax on the resources of the whole world in man power and money, it is opening the eyes and hearts of men to the need and opportunity for large sacrifice, and this is our opportunity to take advantage of the spirit of the times and call upon the Church for men and money to carry out the commission of our Lord spoken nearly two thousand years ago. We are persuaded that we must win this war at any cost for the liberty and safety of the whole human race. So we are persuaded that we should win the world for Christ at any cost, that freedom and peace may be based upon the truth which will insure permanence.

We believe our Centenary program at this time, the first missionary program really worthy of our great Church, is providential; and we should bend every energy to carry it out in full and more. The largeness and spirit of this program will appeal to the liberal and thinking element of the Church if properly presented. We rejoice that this program has been based on prayer and Christian stewardship and that the whole Church is called to do as bidden by our Lord: "Pray ye the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth laborers into his harvest." And this means the giving of self and money. Through prayer and faith we are going to raise the $35,000,000 and send hundreds of missionaries into the white fields of the world in the next five years. Our people are prosperous now, and we must press the world's need, our Lord's command, and our obligation and opportunity to make Christ known to the whole world. And to this end we suggest that our people be informed and inspired through preaching and teaching. Mission study classes should be organized, a missionary program should be used in every Sunday school each month, the Epworth League should have the monthly missionary meetings, and missionary literature should be thoroughly distributed. A strong effort should be made to increase the circulation of the Conference and general organs of the Church.

We commend the Missionary Voice and urge that its circulation be increased.

The Churches, Sunday schools, and individuals supporting foreign pastors, native workers, and specials in mission fields are to be especially commended; and the scores of Churches, Sunday schools, and individuals able to support these ought to be urged to do so. Pastors must take the lead, or little will be accomplished. We must not be satisfied with merely paying assessments in full.

We wish to commend the Churches of our Conference who raise their assessments early in the year. This assures success and saves the paying of interest by the Boards. We are persuaded that the every-member canvass for the benevolences of the Church is most effective, and we urge all our Churches to use it.

In view of the inadequate supply of well-equipped pastors for the home mission fields and the lack of support of many we have, we suggest the enlargement of districts and circuits where it is at all possible. We feel that this policy would give us better leadership and help us to do a more constructive work.

We commend to you the Summer Conference for Christian Workers at Ovoca. This is undoubtedly one of the greatest assets that the Tennessee Conference has. It is developing intelligent leadership among our young people, giving the missionary information and outlook and inspiring them with the sane and normal Christian life. Our pastors would do well to make a strong effort to have rep-representative from their respective charges at this July Conference, and many would be helped by going themselves. Friendship Hall, the property of the Conference, worth about $7,500, has been paid for and was dedicated by Bishop H. M. Du Bose at our last (July) session of the Conference.

We recommend the appointment of William B. Ricks as Conference Missionary Secretary.

We commend the sane and effective policy of the Evangelistic Committee; and we recommend that J. A. Molloy, W. B. Ricks, and F. M. Massey be appointed to serve as the Evangelistic Committee.

We recommend that the share of the $35,000,000 of the Centenary fund allotted to our Conference to be raised in the next five years, amounting to $1,313,420.85, be accepted and that we pledge ourselves to make every effort to raise this amount.

We recognize it as a high tribute to the man and his ability that he has been assigned to the task of shaping the policies of this new and important Board, but we wish as a Board of Missions to express our profound regret at losing him from our body. For sixteen years Dr. Kerley has served with marked ability as President and during this time has labored with tireless energy and splendid judgment to advance the cause of missions, home and foreign. BOARD OF CHURCH EXTENSION.

The past quadrennium has witnessed the largest progress ever made in the work of Church Extension. The total receipts of the General Board amounted to $2,333,144, an increase of over a half million dollars. The Loan Fund capital has gone far beyond its million-dollar goal. Conference loan funds are growing constantly larger; but with all our increase, we are still unable to meet the demands of church-building. This would indicate a continuous and healthy growth throughout our connection.

Our Tennessee Conference Loan Fund now amounts to $2,930.64 and has already done good service in aiding a number of Churches. This fund is an accumulation of small amounts set aside each year by your Board and the accrued interest thereon. If the attention of our people in every charge were called to the fact that such a fund exists in our Conference, administered for us by the General Board in such a way that it cannot possibly be lost, many of our people would be glad to invest in so worthy and useful a benevolence.

Neither is there a safer trust company in all the world than our General Board. Let our pastors mention the opportunity it offers for people who wish a safe income while living and an investment in a worthy benevolence when dead.

We are pleased to note a great improvement in the designs of many of our churches, especially in villages and country places, since the establishment of our Department of Architecture. Let it be remembered that plans may be had free of charge by writing the General Office at Louisville. Your Conference Secretary will be glad to aid you in securing such plans, also to furnish you the blank deeds in proper form in order to safeguard the title to our property. It may not be amiss to remind you again that the General Board will not aid any Church which does not secure plans before building by a competent architect.

We regret to note now and then that a church has burned which carried no insurance. All grants from our Board are made with the understanding that the property is to be kept insured. An Insurance Department, authorized by your General Conference, is being established by our General Board. Write to Dr. H. A. Boaz, 1114 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, for particulars. He may be able to insure you or have it done at a very reasonable rate.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Report No. 1.

To the Tennessee Conference, Lebanon, Tenn.

Our Church, in entering upon a new quadrennium, recognizes the wisdom of the recent General Conference in planning an extensive program for educational work.

Our colleges and universities must be properly equipped and endowed if we are to furnish the Church the best-trained men for all departments of service. Opportunity knocks at our door to-day as never before, and we trust that our people will not disregard their obligations to our Church institutions.

In the annual address from the General Board of Education our attention is called to the inadequate supply of ministers in our Church, owing to the demands that have been made for men in all of the war activities. These are picked men, and the Church gladly furnishes them to preserve the morale of our army and guard the moral and religious life of our boys in trench and camp. The world is calling for trained men in all service, and this and other influences are cutting short our future supply of preachers.

Dr. Bennett, in his address, says: "Two of our prominent Methodist Conferences last year had not a single candidate for admission. Others had greatly reduced classes." He urges that our pastors preach not only an annual sermon on the call to the ministry, but that they preach often on this subject. The General Conference, in asking that a small assessment be added to the educational assessment to provide funds for the educational needs of young ministers, will remove a great obstacle that has hindered many from attending college.

We feel that the General Board of Education and the Annual Conference Board of Education of our Church have no more important educational interest of the Church committed to them than that of the education of the ministry, and we recommend that this Conference place itself on record as being in hearty accord with the action of the General Conferences in the matter of academic requirements for candidates for admission on trial as set forth in Paragraph 777 of the Discipline and also of its purpose to adhere to these requirements in the future.

We feel that our presiding elders and examining committees should see to it that all candidates for admission to the Conference shall be not only informed as to the requirements of the Discipline in this matter, but urged to obtain the education demanded by the Church and guided in their plans and arrangements to obtain such education as that they may make ample preparation for their application for admission to the Conference. Nothing could be more unfortunate in its effect on our young ministers than for the Conference to nullify the law of the Church in its standards and requirements by making an exception of well-nigh every case of delinquency in this matter on the part of candidates for admission. The Board of Education thus pleads for maintenance by our Conference of the requirements of the Discipline.

CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL.

Special attention is called to the Correspondence School. The last General Conference made it compulsory upon all undergraduates to enroll in this school. This is a great forward step toward an educated and better-trained ministry. The General Conference has asked that a commission be nominated by the Board of Education to provide religious training for Methodist students in State institutions of learning. Mr. W. R. Webb, Sr., and Rev. E. P. Anderson are named as the commission.

EMORY UNIVERSITY.

We note with great pleasure and pride the progress made during the past year by Emory University. The four new buildings that have been completed during the year add much to the material equipment of the university, while the large student body that comes from such a vast field indicates that the school is reaching out and touching every section of the country. It is indeed gratifying to state that Rev. E. M. Harrell, Commissioner for Emory University from the Tennessee Conference, has gone "over the top" with his collections for that institution, reaching $58,000, which is $8,000 more than was assessed upon the Conference.

MARTIN COLLEGE.

In the annual meeting of the Board of Education at Gallatin last year a campaign for $100,000 endowment for Martin College was planned to begin this ensuing Conference year. The report of the Board of Trustees of Martin College, in session October 4, 1918, shows that in their opinion it is unwise to undertake the campaign for $100,000 at this time unless the services of a suitable man can be had to conduct the campaign. The Board of Trustees failing to find an available man, the Board of Education is not prepared to make any recommendation. At the beginning of the last quadrennium the Board of Education, together with the Board of Trustees of Martin College, undertook the building of a $30,000 annex to Martin College. Pulaski was to furnish $10,000 of this fund, and the Tennessee Conference agreed to raise $20,000 by adding $5,000 annually to the educational assessment until the debt was paid. The buildings have been completed, and the Conference has generously met its part of the obligation except $250, which amount the Treasurer is ready to pay.

The Martin College Board of Trustees reports an outstanding debt of $26,000 on the college and requests that the same assessment and appropriation be made for the college that has been made during the past few years and that it be continued during the quadrennium, or so long as may be necessary to liquidate the debt. It has already been explained to the Conference that the new building cost considerably more than was originally intended, in part because of the increase in the cost of building material and construction and in part because the Board found it practically necessary to purchase the property known as the Short residence at a cost of $9,500. The Board of Education feels that this was a wise investment of the Martin College Board and approves of the continuation of the same assessment for the college until the debt is fully paid, and we recommend that the Conference take this action, the adoption of this report, constituting such affirmative action.

The Board of Education recommends the reelection to membership on the Martin College Board of Trustees of all those whose term of office expires at this session of the Conference—viz.: G. A. Morgan, R. G. Peoples, J. H. Ragsdale, A. B. Ransom, and W. F. Tillett.

W. T. THOMAS SCHOOL.

The W. T. Thomas School, located at Cumberland City, Tenn., has enrolled the present term one hundred and fifty-four pupils. The Principal, J. T. Stamps, reports the school in better condition than it was last year.

We nominate for reelection to the Board of Trustees for this school W. F. Tillett, W. R. Webb, Jr., and John E. Edgerton.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

We recommend Rev. A. E. Clement for Financial Secretary of the General Board of Education and Rev. A. M. Trawick for Y. M. C. A. War Work.

EPWORTH LEAGUE BOARD.

We, your Epworth League Board, beg leave to submit the following report:

We are living in a changing order. Old things are passing away; all things are becoming new. The League should be a potent factor in the making of a new world.

Interest in the League work throughout the Conference is being manifested by the springing up of new local Chapters and the perfecting of the organizations of the districts.

The mid-year conference which was held at Murfreesboro last spring was the best-attended of such conferences. Much enthusiasm was aroused over the splendid presentation of the one-to-win-one evangelistic program of our Epworth Leagues, and immediate action was taken to support it.

The Ovoca Conference continues to grow in prominence among our Leaguers, a great number of whom attended this year's session and constituted a large percentage of the enrollment.

District institutes have been held this year in all of the organized districts. We feel now that on account of district organizations we are in better condition to promote any phase of the work than ever before. Plans have been made for district secretaries to make an annual visit to each Chapter in his district.

We call special attention to the following items which the Tennessee Conference Epworth League has adopted, and we urge every pastor to include them in his program in the local Church:

1. The young people of this Conference are ready to assume their share in the great Centenary drive.

2. Inasmuch as the Central Office, by action of the General Conference, has relieved the local Chapters of the Chapter membership fee, the Leaguers are in position to aid the pastors in the support of that part of the Church work assigned them in addition to the mission special.

3. Anniversary Day observance has been definitely set for the second Sunday of May. It becomes our duty under the new law to use all diligence in endeavoring to secure the observance of this great day of the Epworth Leagues in every pastoral charge, whether they have an Epworth League or not. In those charges where there are no Epworth Leagues pastors are urged to observe this day with a view to leading up to organizing an Epworth League.

4. The League is endeavoring to recruit for service in the Church the young people of high-school age; therefore the pastors are asked to coöperate in this Church-wide movement, which means the saving of the youth to the Church.

We call attention to the mid-year conference to be held at Franklin in the early spring and ask that each pastor not only send a large delegation of young people, but that he attend and give the young people such support and encouragement as they need.

A. J. MORGAN, President;

W. M. CASSETTY, JR., Secretary.

OVOCA CONFERENCE.

NASHVILLE, TENN., October 9, 1918.

To the Members of the Tennessee Conference.

The Conference at Ovoca was held this year from July 2 to 12, inclusive, with an enrollment of about three hundred. Most of those attending were the choicest young people of our Church.

In regard to Sunday school work: For the first time in the history of the Conference the regular teacher-training courses were conducted at regularly scheduled periods. The attendance and interest at these classes, as well as those of the mission study, Epworth League, and Bible study classes, were the best in the history of the Conference. The attendance in a large number of classes averaged one hundred per cent for the entire ten days of the Conference.

The addresses delivered at the Conferences this year were of the usual high order. The interest of all those attending was great, and the management received hearty coöperation from all.

We again make the statement that the value to our young people in the way of instruction and inspiration from Ovoca is beyond calculation. We ask that the Tennessee Conference continue to give us their united support by sending each year their very choicest young men and women to Ovoca, where their Christian life and Christian service will be greatly deepened and enlarged.

We nominate the following as members of the Board of Control for the ensuing four years: E. P. Anderson, W. B. Taylor, R. S. Rudolph.

E. E. FRENCH, President Board of Control.

SUNDAY SCHOOL BOARD.

With the close of the present session of the Tennessee Conference your Sunday School Board closes another quadrennium of its work.

In looking back over the years we feel that real pioneer work has been accomplished. A larger vision has come to many of our workers, higher standards have been set up, and in a large number of our Sunday schools a serious effort is being made to reach the standards set for us by our General Sunday School Board. In spite of this, however, your Board feels that there is still much to be done. The rank and file of our people are still without vision or have a feeling of helplessness, declaring that the standards are too hard and the organization required is beyond their reach.

Your Board is inclined to believe that such statements reveal the need of a great educational campaign as to the importance of the school and its sufficiency as one of the greatest agencies of the Church in meeting the world's needs. Then the standards and the organization would be felt as a necessity.

Judge Edward F. Waite, of Minneapolis, says: "I am clearly of the opinion that a real religious attitude of mind is the surest safeguard against the sorts of wrongdoing which bring individuals into conflict with the law. Other influences have their value, but nothing takes the place of an active and educated conscience."

The Sunday school of to-day is a large factor in creating this religious attitude of mind and a great force in making an active and educated religious conscience among our people. The "conservation of childhood is the patriotic duty of the home"; and the Sunday school's place in this work, as the strategic force for conservation, yields to no other. Our Church through the General Conference has recognized the importance of the Sunday school and has given it an organization and an equal standing among the other agencies of the Church.

During the incoming quadrennium we ought to be able to accomplish much more than has ever before been possible. During the past four years we have received great benefit from the self-sacrificing and earnest work of our field worker, Mrs. Isaac Sewell. Many churches have been built, others remodeled, members of schools have been graded and are to-day doing excellent work as a direct result of her labors. It is to be regretted that we are not to have her services longer. Her relation as field worker ceases with the close of this Conference.

TEACHER-TRAINING.

As the conception of the Sunday school's importance as an agency for religious education grows, there has come also the conviction that trained leadership is an absolute necessity. This need has been considered so urgent that a nationwide campaign for teacher-training is now being carried on under the direction of the Secretary of the Sunday School Council of Evangelical Denominations, composed of thirty or more denominations. The goal is a teacher-training class or students in every Sunday school and is worthy of our effort. We must not lag behind in this matter. Let us unitedly work for the accomplishment of this goal.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY.

To many there came a conviction that we had outgrown the idea of a Children's Day, or perhaps we should have said the original purpose of Children's Day; and this was due to the fact that the Sunday school is for all ages of people and is not limited in its functions to children only.

There was felt a need of a day that would more adequately impress upon the community the importance, right relationship, and work of the Sunday school as an educational agency than did the Children's Day service. So the General Conference has changed the name of Children's Day to Sunday School Day, and its observance with an offering is most earnestly urged and requested. The offering will be used as heretofore, a part going to the General Sunday School Board and a part to your own Conference Board for Sunday school work.

LAKE JUNALUSKA AND OVOCA.

We urge the sending of more of our young people and workers to Lake Junaluska Training School, which is the great training school of our Church, and also to our own Conference training school at Ovoca. These schools grow in importance and numbers each year, and the blessings resulting therefrom are very great.

LITERATURE.

We trust that our people will be loyal in the use of our own literature, which is unsurpassed by any now published. A new periodical for the benefit of our workers will begin January 1, 1919, and will be known as the School Standard. It will be a magazine of methods and will take the place of two magazines formerly published and known as the Workers' Council and the Graded Sunday School Magazine. Every school should supply its working force with this periodical.

THE CENTENARY AND THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The Sunday schools of the Church will have a prominent part in the great Centenary of Missions, which is now being launched all over the Church. We trust that each Sunday school in the Conference will see that the proper organization for carrying on this work is formed in order that the Sunday schools' share may be successfully accomplished.

Owing to the growing importance of the Sunday school work and to the greater and more complex organization necessary to carry it on, together with the importance of the Centenary campaign, the Board has authorized the Executive Committee of the Sunday School Board to employ a man to take charge of the Sunday school work of the Conference. This Field Secretary will be employed just as soon as a suitable pastor can be found.

We wish to thank our presiding elders and pastors, who have so courteously and faithfully coöperated with the Board during the quadrennium.

We recommend that Rev. W. M. Green be appointed as Agent of the Board for another year.

E. E. FRENCH, Chairman;
D. M. AUSMUS, Secretary.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

In this day of world peril not the least of the dangers that threaten our Christian civilization is the loss of the Sabbath. For many years there has been a growing tendency among our people to make the Sabbath a day of recreation and pleasure-seeking rather than a day of rest and worship. Many persons, actuated for the most part by hope of worldly gain, have advocated the "open Sunday" and have effectually used many ingenious, though fallacious, arguments for the attaining of the ends sought.

Since the entrance of our beloved country into the great world war and the increased strain on the strength and morale of our people consequent thereon, the desecration of the Sabbath has increased to an alarming extent. In the communities contiguous to our army cantonments and great war industries all forms of amusement and many kinds of business are making Sunday a leading day for gain-getting, scarcely no restraint being placed upon them other than the conservation moves of the government. The congregating of many strangers in these localities, the looseness of money due to the unprecedented high wages that are being paid, the absence of the flower of the young men of these communities on account of army service—all contribute to a lowering of the moral temper, while the liberty of working on Sunday at an inflated wage, while possibly in some instances justifiable by the great need of haste in the work of carrying on our part in the war, is a potent factor in the desecration of the Sabbath.

The Church of God has no more important work than to do its full duty in the matter of saving to the world as a day of worship the holy day. Loyal Churchmen should do all in their power to curb the practice of those less loyal of pleasure-riding and other forms of Sabbath desecration, for the gasolineless Sundays have already in many instances increased Sunday school and church attendance.

Those who labor on Sunday should do so only when it is imperative, and a plan to have the extra wages earned on that day donated to some loyal or charitable enterprise would go far toward curbing those who work merely for gain and would ennoble those who work for the common good.

Let us all pull together in a mighty effort to combat this coiled serpent, the spirit of Sabbath desecration, which is so viciously striking for the lifeblood of our Christian institutions.

CHRISTIAN LITERATURE.

Dear Fathers and Brethren: Your Committee on Christian Literature begs leave to report its organization by the election of John J. Ransom, Chairman, and Robert S. Tinnon, Secretary.

But one document has been submitted to us requiring a report at this session of the Conference—"The Annual Report of the Publishing House of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South: Financial Exhibit of the Publishing Agents." We are glad to note that after deducting from the gross income of the past financial year all the obligations and liabilities of the Publishing House and its branches, including all reported "Department Losses," "Pacific Methodist Advocate Subsidy," "College Donations," "Dividends" paid, and all "Depreciations" estimated of stock and other holdings, a total of $79,122.66, the "Financial Exhibit" shows a net gain balance of $37,865.66 added to the capital, making a total capital of $1,684,089.75.

We hereby request that all catalogues of books and periodicals issued or otherwise handled by the Publishing House and samples of the literature thus circulated among our people be submitted to us for examination and report at the next session of the Tennessee Conference.

Also we suggest that the publisher and editor of the Midland Methodist make some report to us at the next annual session of the Conference.

Respectfully submitted.

JOHN J. RANSOM, Chairman;

ROBERT S. TINNON, Secretary.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE RECORDS.

We, your Committee on District Conference Records, submit the following report:

All the records were before your committee except those from the Gallatin District.

All except the Franklin District records were typewritten and models of neatness. We find it a splendid record with this exception.

We wish to note, however, that the records of the Fayetteville and Mt. Pleasant Districts failed to show who of the official roll were present, but stated the number.

YOUNG PREACHERS' INSTITUTE.

In Franklin, Tenn., June 18 to 25, was held the second annual Young Preachers' Institute. While we were pleased with the session of 1917, we feel that the session of this year was an advance in every respect. Sixty-five were enrolled in the Institute, and the young men were most earnest in their efforts to get the greatest possible benefit. We feel that great good is being done. The program covered the vital phases of the preacher's life and work.

All expenses were paid for thirty-eight of the young preachers who could not have attended otherwise. Those who helped by work or money to make the Institute a success have made a real contribution to the welfare of many pastoral charges. The young men request that this important work be continued. All bills were promptly paid, and we have some $300 in the treasury.

SOCIAL SERVICE.

Once more we wish to express our emphatic condemnation of lynching. Such lawless acts are confined to no one section of our country; but wherever the mob forms, whatever the color or previous condition of the victim, whatever the offense arousing public anger, we enter again our earnest protest against mobs and once more pledge ourselves to continue to stand for the majesty of the law.

When a mob murders a man, it tramples the law underfoot. Though a man deserves death, it is the prerogative of the courts and not of mobs to administer punishment. Mobs do not decrease crime, do not cure the evils whose existence is their excuse for being. We must do all we can to hasten the day when the courts will more quickly and surely execute the law where acts of violence have been committed. We will continue to do what we can to create public sentiment so strong that mobs will not be tolerated, no matter what crime has outraged the feelings of the people.

The Church's program of social service must be an expression of religion and not a substitute for religion. We must more and more make the Church the channel through which we serve men in manifold ways, serve all men and all of man. The care of the poor, the penal institutions, public schools, highways, and health are all part of our work.

MEMOIRS.

A. G. DINWIDDIE.—In the midst of our Conference business we pause to place upon the casket of the memory of our beloved dead our tokens of personal esteem bedewed with our tears of sorrow and fragrant with our love. The subject of this memoir, Dr. Alexander Green Dinwiddie, was born in Montgomery County, Tenn., July 12, 1840, and died in Columbia, Tenn., January 8, 1918, making him seventy-eight years of age. Dr. Dinwiddie joined the Methodist Church at the age of seventeen and was licensed to preach the gospel the same year. He joined the Tennessee Conference at the age of nineteen years. He was a faithful Methodist preacher for more than fifty years. Dr. Dinwiddie's opportunities for securing an education were very limited; but being possessed of a fine mind, a good memory, and an ambition to succeed, he acquired an education beyond many who were more favorably situated. He was a close student and read widely. Dr. Dinwiddie was an eloquent preacher. In his younger days he was quite a pulpit orator. He was a popular preacher, a great lover of young people, and they honored him. He never grew away from them. He was a faithful pastor. He began and ended his ministry in the town of Columbia, Maury County, Tenn. He joined the Tennessee Conference in Columbia. Dr. Dinwiddie taught school for a while at Culleoka, and when he was removed from there Professor Webb came and took charge of the work begun by young Dinwiddie and built up the famous Webb School. Dr. Dinwiddie filled all grades of appointments, from circuits up through the leading stations and districts. He transferred from the Tennessee to the St. Louis Conference, where for eight years he filled some of the leading pulpits. Then for eight years he was in the Southwest Missouri Conference, where his success was possibly the greatest. Then he came back to the Tennessee Conference to live and die among the friends of his first love. Dr. Dinwiddie was an honorable man—as gentle as a woman, as guileless as a child. He was congenial and sunnyspirited. His name will live and linger in the memory of all who knew him as the cadence of a sweet song. It is as ointment poured forth. On November 19, 1861, Dr. Dinwiddie was married to Miss Rachel Odil, who was indeed a helpmate to him amid all the vicissitudes of a Methodist minister's life. "Granny," as she is affectionately called (God bless her!), and four children survive him—one son and three daughters. During my pastorate of four years in Columbia it was my very great pleasure and privilege to be associated with this good man. He was indeed a friend and father to me. He was pastor supply in almost all the Churches of Columbia when they were without pastors, visiting their sick, burying their dead, and marrying their lovers. After services by the writer of this memoir, assisted by Dr. Capers, of the Columbia Institute, we buried him in the cemetery where he had buried so many to sleep until God shall bid them come forth. W. T. HAGGARD.

REV. GREEN P. JACKSON, the son of Green and Huldah L. P. (Joslin) Jackson, was born March 27, 1840, in the free and open country of Dickson County, Tenn. He was born in a Christian atmosphere and grew up amid godly influences. The simplicity of his surroundings had much to do with the development of a strong body and an inquiring mind. He took to all the opportunities which his day offered for the improvement of his talents and was a most diligent and painstaking student to the end of his days. At the tender age of fifteen years he was genuinely and happily converted; uniting at once with the Church in whose fellowship he lived for over threescore years. He did not assume the vows of Church membership lightly, for they were to him the interpretation of a vital work of grace which brought to him a consciousness of sins forgiven and of the indwelling presence of the Holy Spirit. He entertained that vital faith which transforms the things of the spirit world into the most real entities of the soul. His conversion typed his whole ministry, which was always zealous, fervid, evangelic, and evangelistic. He despaired of no one, but labored for and believed in the possibility of the salvation of the most wicked and degenerate among men. At twenty years of age he joined the Conference at Clarksville and for nearly a half century served with zeal and fidelity in every class of appointment to which he was assigned. His first two years' service was as a supply. From that time forward he served independently on circuits, in stations, and on districts, filling with great credit every place from the poorest charges to the best. He never seemed concerned about the place to which he was assigned, always rejoicing that he had a place in which to discharge his high calling. He was a most diligent pastor. In the towns where he served he knew almost every man, woman, and child by name. He managed to be much among the people, in their homes and places of business, and wherever he went he carried an atmosphere of perennial good cheer. Nor was he a mere peripatetic, gadding aimlessly about; he sought to win men, women, and children to himself that he might win them to Christ, and in the good providence of God he did reach multitudes of people. He rejoiced greatly in seeing men saved, whether directly through his own or another's preaching. It was the writer's good fortune to serve a charge in his district and to be pastor to him and his wife. I can never forget how they went with me to some of the lowest and vilest places of the community as we sought to reclaim the lost. Nor did his incessant and systematic pastoral work prevent his persistent vigor as a student. He was a reader of great books and many of them. His library was well selected and carefully and constantly used. But his great study was the Bible. It was the only inexhaustible fountain for whose waters he maintained an unquenchable thirst. How many copies of the Greek New Testament he had I do not know, but I know that he read the New Testament in the original constantly and through and through many times. He laid eager hands on every new translation of the Bible and used every help that might bring him a new key to its treasure house of truth. He was painstaking in the preparation of his sermons, so that he was never hard to understand nor tiresome to listen to, but made himself clear to all, his chief aim being to convince the mind, stir the heart, and lead men to an immediate acceptance of the truth. Brother Jackson was a most gentle and brotherly man, full of wit and good humor. He was a tonic to any circle which he entered. He was the author of several books, one of which is an autobiography that is a most readable book, as it shows much of the prevailing conditions under which our Church in Tennessee has had its growth and development. Brother Jackson was ripe for heaven. There were no clouds in his evening sky. He often expressed a "desire to depart and be with Christ, which is far better." He knew where he was going, because he knew the direction in which he had been traveling throughout his earthly pilgrimage. A mighty host of his brethren who had wrought with him in semipioneer days had preceded him, so that he had much to look forward to besides those tenderer and holier voices which had known him in the most sacred personal relations. The end came very much as he wished. In the blush of the coming spring his soul went out to greet the Easter dawn of the eternal morning.

MADISON WILSON CHARLES was born near Manchester, Coffee County, Tenn., March 19, 1856, and died at his home, in Hohenwald, Tenn., February 9, 1918. Brother Charles professed religion and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at old Asbury, near Hillsboro, Tenn., in his nineteenth year. He taught in the public schools of his native county eight years of his young manhood. He married Miss Louella Johnson, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., June 11, 1885, and joined the Tennessee Conference at Fayetteville, Tenn., in October, 1888. He served the following charges: Dover Circuit, one year; Shady Grove Circuit, one year; Marble Plains Circuit, two years; Fayetteville Circuit, one year; Unionville Circuit, two years; Medium Circuit, two years; Sparta Circuit, two years; Olivet Circuit, one year; Linden Circuit, one year. He was in the active ministry only nineteen years. He superannuated twelve years ago on account of failing health and went into the hotel business at McEwen, Tenn., and afterwards moved to Hohenwald, Tenn., and conducted the St. Charles Hotel until three years ago, when he retired to private life. He is survived by his widow, three sons, and one daughter, as follows: J. M. Charles, Monroe, La.; E. L. Charles, who is now a soldier in France; Orman Charles, of Hohenwald, Tenn.; and Genevieve Charles Hyde, of Hartsville, Tenn. He also had one daughter to die at Soule Female College, Murfreesboro, Tenn., February 14, 1904. It was the pleasure of the writer to be the pastor of Brother Charles the year preceding his death, and he spent many restful, helpful hours in his home. Brother Charles was always glad to see his pastor and loved to talk over old times. His mind wavered at times, but he was always bright on the subject of the old-time religion. It was his fate as well as fortune to move often and far, and he served some of the hardest and most difficult charges; but they did not appear to be hard to him. He was always cheerful, good-humored, and kind-hearted. It actually hurt him worse to deliver a just rebuke than the ones for whom the rebuke was intended. His educational advantages were limited, but he applied himself very diligently and literally wore himself out trying to succeed as an itinerant preacher; and considering the circumstances under which he labored, he was probably an average success. What he may have lacked mentally he made up in spirit. He was buried at Hohenwald, Tenn., with Masonic honors. He was my pupil in his boyhood, always obedient, obliging, and polite. We were chums in our young manhood days and classmates in the Conference. I have known him all his life, and there never was anything against him.

JAMES W. FAIRES.—Since the days of John Wesley the biographies of Methodist preachers have been an important part of the history of the Church. The life story of the subject of this memoir is an important part of the history of the Methodist Church and ministry in Tennessee. Rev. James Wiley Faires, son of Rev. Andrew and Mary Faires, was born at Cloverdale, Ala., February 16, 1855. He died at his home, in Greenbrier, Tenn., on the evening of July 4, after a severe illness of seven months. He came of sturdy religious people who firmly believed in God and sincerely worshiped him. His father, grandfather, and several cousins were Methodist preachers. He was converted at the early age of eleven years and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Thus building early upon a good foundation, he grew up into a strong Christian character. He was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference of the old Cypress Circuit of the North Alabama Conference and preached his first sermon at Pisgah, his home Church. Much of the wisdom of the world has been crystallized into maxims. One of these has taught us not to say anything of the absent or departed but good. I do not have to hide behind any of these aphorisms in summing up the character of Brother Faires. If I were required to describe his life in a single sentence, I would go to the Book: "Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom there is no guile." From the day of his childhood to the day of his going away from us he lived a blameless life. I knew him very intimately for forty-five years. We were in school together. In October, 1880, we were admitted on trial into the Tennessee Conference. Since the day we first met I have not for one moment doubted his integrity of character. He moved in a straightforward, consistent course, never wavering. Of all the men I have known, he was the most gentle, yet the most unbending in all questions involving conscience. He was modest and unassuming, yet decided in his convictions and actions. He was warm-hearted and generous and possessed the highest ideals. Those who knew him most intimately were the most warmly attached to him. His actions were of singular sincerity and were marked by justice in all his dealings with his fellow men. He neither emulated, rivaled, envied, nor hated any man. The desire to supplant, suppress, or triumph over a brother was foreign to his nature. There was nothing more prominent in his character than his fidelity to the friendships of life. His professions of attachment were sincere and lasting. Treachery and he were strangers to each other. He never betrayed a friend nor deserted him in the hour of need. Your life and honor were safe in his hands. You never knew how true he was until the clouds gathered and the storm was out. His early educational advantages were not the best; but his natural abilities were good, and he was diligent in their improvement. Others may have excelled him in brilliancy of intellect, but he was equal to the best of them as a wise and safe counselor. His views were often sought in matters of importance. He was a faithful and useful gospel preacher and made no parade about it. His mind and heart were saturated with the conviction that his sole business was to save men and to look after the business of the Church. He had a definite object in view when he answered the call of his Lord to the ministry. He had no vague ideas or loose plans. He kept constantly before him the grandeur and glory of his high calling. His earnestness was not a fitful, transient paroxysm. He was as steady as the vision of his high calling inspired him. The larger part of the thirty-eight years of his itinerate ministry was spent on good circuits. He was eminently fitted for such work. He was probably the best circuit preacher in the Tennessee Conference. He did all the work of a Methodist preacher. He never resorted to any schemes to obtain promotion, but held firmly to the idea that a Methodist preacher should be subject to the appointing powers and go gladly to any field to which he was assigned, trusting in God to go with him. During his illness he said to the writer that in looking back over the long stretch of the years of his ministry he had no unkind feeling toward any of the brethren, that they had all been good to him. Brother Faires was a fine business man. Had he given his wisdom and time to material affairs, he would have attained large success. He never received a large salary, but lived free from debt and always had money. He was never mercenary, but liberal. He never gave less than one-tenth of his income. He gave his children the best of advantages. He took into his home at different times several worthy girls and spent hundreds of dollars in helping them to be fitted for life. He took his afflicted brother and his two daughters and kept them ten years. When the girls were educated and able to support themselves and care for their father, he bought them a home and located them in Florence, Ala. In old Pleasant Grove Church, near Lawrenceburg, Tenn., June 24, 1884, James Wiley Faires and Miss Annie Powers were married. Rev. Payton A. Sowell, their presiding elder and lifelong friend, performed the marriage ceremony. Annie became a helpmate indeed in all the years of his ministry. No Methodist preacher ever had a better wife nor one more suited for the itineracy. Their married life was most beautiful. Two children were born to them, Mary McFerrin and Lloyd. Mary is the wife of Rev. Berry J. Duncan, an honored member of the Tennessee Conference. Lloyd is a fine Christian young man in the service of the government and at this time in France. Brother Faires leaves his wife and children, one brother, three sisters, a number of nephews and nieces, with a host of friends, to mourn his departure. If attention and kindness could have saved him, he would have been spared. Brother Faires's sufferings were long and distressing, but he never complained. He had a strong body, and it was hard for the disease to bring the "tabernacle" down. Death had no terror for him. I shall never forget in any world a scene in his home during his illness. He called his family about him; and, commencing with his faithful wife, he placed his hands upon their heads and left upon each of them his blessing and advice. And he did not forget those of us who stood by. I never expect to witness another scene like that. He has gone from us. The fellowships of many of our dear brethren on earth have been destroyed by that strange something we call death. But they have entered upon that life on which sorrow can cast no shadow and, thank God! over which death has no power. My dear lifelong friend and brother, good-by. J. T. BLACKWOOD.
